Christmas Train for Moonlight Madness

Employees at Flaman in Moosomin have been working on a train that will take kids for rides around downtown Moosomin during Moonlight Madness! Last year's version of the train gave rides to about 200 people

Moonlight Madness in Moosomin Wednesday, Nov. 29

The Moosomin Chamber of Commerce is making plans for Moosomin's Moonlight Madness on Wednesday, November 29. Stores will be open until 9 pm that night and many stores will be holding Moonlight Madness sales.

Draws to reward shoppers

The Chamber will be distributing Moonlight Madness cash cards to all businesses that will be open for Moonlight Madness.

Shoppers can ask for a card at the first business they shop at that night.

Each card can be stamped at five businesses between 5 pm and 9 pm Wednesday and left at the last business a person shops at.

They will then be entered into three draws for Moosomin Bucks—one for $500, one for $250 and one for $100.

Coupons from Cooper

Borderland Co-op plans to have their mascot, Cooper, out that night, with a sack full of coupons for discounts and giveaways at local businesses.

"In the past Cooper has gone out from 5-8 pm and businesses have given coupons that can have anything on them—freebies, discounts, whatever you think to get people to come into your business," Iera Harper of Borderland Co-op said.

Harper said businesses wanting to include coupons in the bag can contact her.

Flaman Christmas Train

For the second year, the Flaman Christmas Train will be making the rounds in downtown Moosomin, giving the kids a ride during Moonlight Madness.

Two years ago, Flaman Manager Mark Steining and his staff built a wagon to take Santa Claus through downtown Moosomin. People asked if their kids could ride with Santa, so the next year Flaman built a Christmas Train pulled by an ATV.

This year Flaman has improved on the idea—a train engine and caboose have been added to the Christmas Train.

The train station will be set up at the Borderland Co-op Marketplace parking lot.

Flaman will be collecting donations for Caring Communities at the Christmas Train. Donations of non-perishable food, toiletry items and unwrapped toys will be accepted for Caring Communities and Flaman is hoping to fill the caboose.

Steining says the Christmas train was popular last year.

"We had big kids, little kids—we estimate we hauled about 200 people last year."

He said running the Christmas Train is a lot of fun. "It's a lot of fun for us," he said. "Last year 100 per cent of the people who work here were down there. Everyone who works here was down there, most of their spouses were down there, and some of their kids.

"I remember last year we had a full train load of kids, and all the kids started singing Jingle Bells, so this year we're adding music as well, so they can sing along."

Borderland Co-op will be serving hot chocolate and goodies inside the store.

Roller derby girls gift wrapping

Five local roller derby girls have made Team Canada in Roller Derby, and will be set up to wrap gifts and collect donations at Witch's Brew Wednesday night in return for a donation. They are raising money to help cover the costs of Team Canada practices in various Canadian locations and to travel to the Junior Roller Derby Association 2018 World Cup in the U.S. next July.

Light up night in Rocanville

People crowd around a bonfire to roast wieners after singing carols at Rocanville's light up night last year.

Rocanville Light-Up Night this Thursday, Nov. 30

Rocanville's businesses are planning late night shopping events for the next three weeks, starting with Light-Up Night this Thursday, November 30. Stores will be open until 8 pm for the next three Thursdays.

This Thursday, November 30 Rocanville will host its Light-Up Night. There will be a trade show at Hope Congregational Church, a hot dog roast at the fire hall sponsored by Borderland Co-op, the tree lighting, and holiday crafts at the Library. On Thursday, December 7, there will be a handmade gift workshop for kids at the hall, and Donna Jack's Gallery and Gifts will hold its 20th anniversary event. On Thursday, December 14, there will be a home-based business tradeshow and bake sale at Hope Church. The Dial-A-Van and hayrack will be offering Christmas Light tours, there will be Santa photos at Conexus Credit Union, and Cooper will be handing out coupons.
