Raise your glass to moms everywhere

Oh, mothers! There are endless reasons to celebrate the women who give birth to us, raise us, console us and put up with our melodrama. Granted, as children we despised getting chastised for an unkempt room and yes, that infallible instinct to detect our lies got us into trouble more times than we could count. However, we wouldn't be the responsible adults we are today if it weren't for our mother's unconditional love and disciplining words.

No matter their quirks — whether they always prepare a meal fit for an army; forget the title of the film or book they wanted to recommend; have bizarre mannerisms; or lecture motivational nonsense that does anything but motivate — we still love them dearly. Whether or not we like to admit it, these quirks are what give our mothers their charm. So, for all of these reasons — and because we love them to pieces — let's raise our glass in honour of mothers everywhere!

Prepare a surprise Mother's Day breakfast in bed

Do you want to spoil the mother of your children with a mouth-watering surprise this Mother's Day? You can never go wrong with breakfast in bed to mark this most meaningful of occasions! Treat the love of your life to a blissful morning between the sheets with pancakes, bacon and eggs or an assortment of fresh fruit. There's nothing she'll appreciate more than a morning spent in bed enjoying a tasty meal prepared with her family's love and care.

If your kids are more likely to cook up a mess than a breakfast dish, ask them to draw a picture to decorate Mom's breakfast tray instead. For some added fun, have them collect all of the pillows around the house to ensure their mother dines in absolute comfort. Finally, top the presentation off with her favourite flower, a sweet note or an uplifting family photo, and watch her melt with joy!
